He was regarded as a Tory during the Revolution, and was too old to serve in the war of 1812. He states that he has heard his grandfather, who was a French Huguenot, relate how hexaw Louis XIV. at Sevre.. So says the New York Herald.

the Jewish faith, and during the past year he did not receive a single poeti-cal effusion for insertion." Happy Jewish Messenger! A New York correspondent asserts that two of the journals ostensibly de-voted to insurance in that city live solely by blackmailing. If this or that company refuse to give them an advertisement, something derogatory to it forthwith appears. Unless this or that insurance officer comes down with patronage, he is referred to in some slanderous manner.

" It is your everyday experiences which cultivate you—the little silent workings within and without—slow-er, perhaps, than the uprisal of the coral i-land, but just as since. It may take years to bring you above the surface; but every shell that you throw off raises you so much higher."
